

Umweltpolitik der ebalta Kunststoff GmbH

The company ebalta, based in Rothenburg ob der Tauber, has decided to take even more responsibility for conservation and protection of the environment in the future. In order to come up to this aim of conserving resources and considering the scarcity of raw materials, the following guidelines result:

- by improvement of existing production process we actively reduce the consumption of resources and therewith the effects on emission and waste.
- for us compliance and fulfillment of any binding commitment go without saying.
- by regular training and instructions we increase the environmental awareness of our employees.
- as a matter of course we continuously reduce and minimize accident-caused effects.
- we have taken precautionary measures in order to reduce unwanted emissions caused by possible breakdowns.
- within our introduced, maintained and continuously improved environmental management system we regularly control the conversion of our ecological aims and document our proceedings.
- we communicate our environmental policy to the public and give information on our ecological aims and programmes to any interested groups.
